

CRITICAL PART OF CASE PRESENTED MOST IMPORTANT WEEK OF CALHOUN TRIAL ENDS

Heney Will Ignore Restraining Order and Ask for Permission to Examine the Papers Seized in Raid.

It is Thought the Papers Were Stolen from District Attorney's Office by Calhoun's Lieutenants.

(Associated Press.)
SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—The most important week in the Calhoun case ended with the adjournment of court tonight. The judge, jury, counsel and all concerned indicated relief at the ending of the nervous strain which they have been under for the last five days. It has been evident from the attitude of the attorneys during the time Spreckels and Helms were on the stand that the critical part of the case was being presented. The interest reached the height today when Heney announced he would ask Judge Lawlor to make an order allowing him to open the sealed packages of papers taken from the office of William Abbott, general counsel for the railroad company, many weeks ago, when the desks and safes were searched by virtue of search warrants. In making the request Heney is ignoring the restraining orders of two courts within the same jurisdiction. The packages, it is alleged, contain documents taken from the office of William Burns, the special agent of the prosecution.

Helms was on the stand the larger portion of the day and mentioned the dynamiting of the houses of James Gallagher, the leader of the former board of supervisors, saying that Abbott and Luther Brown, the railroad attorneys, asked him about it. The objection of the defense in further probing in this direction was sustained. A mention was also made of the alleged efforts to get Helms to refrain from testifying, but the facts were not brought out. Helms said that Abbott once said to him, "Some one should shoot Heney." Stanley Moore, the counsel for the defense, asked if the witness did not know he was a "lying dog" and was perjuring himself. Helms, white faced, and shaking with passion, leaped to his feet and it seemed for a moment as if he intended to assault Moore. Charles W. Cobb, a law partner of Heney, to whom $10,000 was paid in connection with the prosecution by Spreckels, was called to the stand to explain the payment. The case was adjourned until Monday.

"ADAM GOD" HAS NO USE FOR THE LAWYERS

(By Associated Press.)
KANSAS CITY (Mo.), May 21.—"I guess these people in the courtroom criticise me and believe I'm heartless because I don't take interest in what's going on here," said James Sharp, or "Adam God," as he calls himself here today in the criminal court where he and his wife are on trial accused of the murder of a policeman in the religious riot in Kansas City last winter.

"I don't put any faith in lawyers or man," Sharp continued. "I do what God tells me to do and follow wherever he leads. It grieves me to see the lawyers, the judge and the jurors groping in the dark. They are blind and cannot see God as I see him." The securing of a jury is proceeding slowly.

CONSERVATIVE IS IN NEW LAW SUIT

(Special to the Bonanza.)
GOLDFIELD, May 21.—On the ground that the defendants are claiming ground rightfully belonging to the Conservative claim at Pioneer, a suit was filed in the district court yesterday by the Gold Hills Mining and Milling company against the Indiana Nevada Mining company. There is no apex question involved in the action. The plaintiff corporation is now controlled by George Wingfield and D. R. C. Brown. The bill says that the Conservative was located by W. A. Wheeler on January 25, 1905, but that on February 1 of this year the Indiana people "with force and arms" entered upon the southerly 600 feet of the claim and began sinking a shaft. The Gold Hills company asks for possession and $25,000 damages, as well as an injunction to prevent the Indiana concern from further mining on the ground.

Over 500 Redmen Gather to Receive Body of Charles Kaiser Who Was Hanged for Murdering His Wife.

(By Associated Press.)
CARSON, May 21.—Fearing trouble among the 500 Washoe Indians who had gathered to receive the body of Charles Kaiser, the son of Black Morse, a Washoe chief, who was hanged today for the murder of his wife, the authorities decided to hold the interment within the walls of the penitentiary and the red men were ordered dispersed. The Indians began gathering yesterday. All were armed and openly declared they intended to hold a pow wow when they received the body. The action of the whites in interfering with Indian punishment of Kaiser is resented. They declare it should have been left to them to settle with the chief's son should they deem the offense punishable by death. The alleged intimacy of Kaiser's wife with other men was the cause of the murder. This requires a death penalty of the woman in the tribal code. Kaiser broke down completely before the execution and was dragged to the gallows by attendants.
